While the total of money won by his tory as "Sysonby's year," he leads his nearest rival by almost $40,000. A feature of Mr. Keene's success is that all of the horses which carried his colors were bred by him at Castleton Farm, which makes double triumph,

Five years ago the leading owner had $79,000. In 1903 the late William C. Whitney passed the $100,000 mark, and this was bled a year later by the horses of Harry Payne Whitney, racing in the colors of H. B. Duryea. Last year Mr. Keene's total was $239,570, and this is apt to stand as a record for some time to
